THIRTY-ONE FAMILIES ARE MADE HAPPY

Children Are Given a Turkey Supper Thursday Evening

BASKETS DISTRIBUTED

Thirty-one families were made happy and about 100 children received a Christmas treat at the reading room of the Charleoi Free Library association Thursday evening.

Thirty-four children were given a roast turkey supper at the reading room by a committee from the Board of Associated Charities and the Charleoi Free Library Association. Presents which had been placed on large Christmas tree in one end of the room were distributed by Santa Claus, after the children had eaten their supper.

Each of the thirty-one families received provisions to the value of about $5. The baskets contained all kinds of groceries and meats. Fifteen of these families the Board of Associated Charities have been helping for some time. Six of the families are without a head and in five of the families there is sickness.

The Board of Associated Charities wish to express their thanks to the general public for their ready response. They also wish to thank Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. J. K. Smith, Mrs. C. W. Albright and Mrs. John O'Neal and all others who helped in serving the supper or the reception for the children.

BRIDGE MATTERS ARE SETTLED UP

The controller and commissioners of Washington county and the same officials from Fayette county met in Pittsburg this week relative to closing up the Brownsville bridge account. This being a joint county bridge and the expenses being borne about equally by the two counties there are many little details to be looked after in order finally to close up the business. There is yet the question of damages, due to the change in the approaches, to be taken care of.

The total cost of the bridge was $232,134.31. Of this sum Washington county paid $107,199.63 and Fayette county, $124,934.71. Added to these sums will be five per cent for engineering charges. This amounts to about $11,606.72. The substructure of the bridge cost $71,927.14 of which sum Washington county paid $33,215.25 and Fayette county $38,711.19. There was also the expense of painting. Some patching up of paint had to be done after the opening as the crowds at that time crawled up on the iron work tearing off in some places paint that was not entirely dry.

INJURED MAN IS THE RECIPIENT OF FLOWERS

Wash Patrick who was injured in an accident at the Machebin-Evans glass factory a few days ago, was the recipient of a beautiful bunch of flowers, presented to him Christmas by the girls of the department of the factory in which he worked. A number of them visited him and presented him with the flowers.

RELIEF COMMITTEE CARES FOR FAMILIES

The Roscoe Welfare association is caring for the needs of all the families of men who are out of employment. At present they are providing for twenty families. Many of the cases where it was claimed that there was need were found to have some member of the family working. At first the committee was swamped with calls for help. When it was found that no cases but those of real need would be helped the calls fell off at once. Every case of real need is being cared for. The Eclipse local is working hand in hand with the Welfare Association of which S. H. Saylor is president, Fred Allison, secretary and John W. Stephens, the cashier of the bank is treasurer. They find that they are able to handle the situation, unless matters become much worse, which is very unlikely. Fifty pairs of shoes, four loads of coal and quite a large amount of clothing have been distributed in addition to groceries.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT IN CHARLEROI

Weather Favorable For the Joy of the Occasion

GOOD SAINT PROMINENT

The weather was ideal all day Friday. Christmas was greatly enjoyed in Charleoi. The Christmas spirit abounded. From evidences Santa Claus was prominent in the affairs of the community early in the morning and the results of his visit are still lasting. Evidence pointed to general prosperity, so numerous were the presents distributed. The post office is still busy distributing parcel post packages.

Children got toys dolls and any variety of things, while their elders got everything under the sun. Today new muffs, rings, pins, gloves, dresses, suits, hats and most any kind of wearing apparel are being seen on the streets for the first time.

Church services were held at St. Jerome's church. St. Mary's Episcopal church. Methodist Episcopal church. and Christ Lutheran church. At St. Jerome's church six masses were held. At the Methodist Episcopal church services were held in the morning and at night a Christmas Cantata. "Santa Claus in Slumberland" was participated in by about 75 young people. The primary and intermediate Sunday school pupils received a treat. Early morning services were held at Christ Lutheran church. At St. Mary's church an extensive program was rendered at 10 o'clock. An entertainment and treat was held at the first Christian church Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

William McDermott Dies Early Christmas Morning

William McDermott, aged 25 years, died Christmas morning at 25 minutes after 12 o'clock, at the home of his parents on Crest avenue. Mr. McDermott had been confined to his bed the greater part of the time during the past month but was not considered serious until Wednesday.

Mr. McDermott is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elsie Flickinger McDermott; one daughter, Eleanor Louise McDermott; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDermott, all of Charleoi.

The following brothers and sisters also survive: Mrs. Rose McDermott Hill, of Munhall; Miss Cecelia McDermott; and Miss Margaret McDermott, of Charleoi; M. M. McDermott, of Pittsburg; Thomas J. McDermott and Harry A. McDermott, of Charleoi and John McDermott of Munhall.

Private funeral services will be held at the home on Crest avenue Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Interment will be in the Monongahela cemetery.

HEARING ON LIQUOR PERMITS TO BE HELD

Within the next few days the annual filing of liquor license applications will be made with the clerk of courts. The requirement is that these applications shall be filed on or before 5 o'clock on the first Monday of January. That will be just one week from next Monday evening. Already counsel for those desiring to have their licenses renewed or for those seeking the right to sell for the first time are preparing their papers. All these applications have to be signed by a certain number of persons and bonds filed with them. It takes considerable work to properly prepare them. They will be coming in within the next few days. It is expected that Judge R. W. Irwin will sit in license court this year. Had Judge Taylor lived this would have been his year to hear liquor license applications. Judge McIlvaine sat last year and if the rule that has heretofore been observed prevails Judge Irwin will hear the applications this year.

License court will be convened on the first Monday of February, the same week that the grand jury for the February term of criminal court is sitting. Remonstrances against and supplemental petitions for licenses have to be filed before 5 o'clock on the last Monday of January. The United Temperance League of the county will join in the fight against the liquor men at the coming license court, with the Anti-Saloon League and Jerome Plummer Temperance fund.

SWICK-WHITEHEAD NUPTIALS CHRISTMAS

Beautiful were the appointments Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Whitehead on Prospect avenue, when Miss Jean Norris Whitehead became the bride of W. A. Swick, former principal of the Charleoi High school.

Promptly at six o'clock in the presence of the immediate relatives of the bride and groom, Miss Elma Collins sang impressively "Oh Promise Me." To the beautiful strains of the Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Bethel Bowmar, the bridal couple attended by Miss Marie Whitehead, a sister of the bride and Prof. J. A. Bell of Boston approached the altar. The ceremony was pronounced by Rev. T. W. Colhouer an uncle of the bride. The ring ceremony was used.

The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of white crepe de chene and satin and carried cream roses. Her attendant wore pink crepe de chene trimmed with white fur and carried pink and white roses.

Mrs. Swick is one of Charleoi's most popular young women. She was graduated from the Charleoi high school with the class of 1901 and from California Normal in 1906. She taught three years in the Charleoi public schools, three years in the Beaver Falls schools and held successfully a position on the teaching force of the Pittsburg schools for two years.

Mr. Swick is a graduate of the Slippery Rock normal and of the Allegheny College of Meadville. He was principal of the Charleoi high school and held high school faculty positions at Beaver and Monongahela. He is at present teacher of mathematics in the Huntingdon Boys School at Boston, Mass.

Following the ceremony a five course dinner was served by Misses Elizabeth and Jennie Elliott. The decorations of pink and white were artistically carried out in the dinner. The Whitehead home was beautifully decorated throughout. Decorations in the reception hall and parlor were in red and green, while the dining room which contained the "bridal table" was in pink and white.

Those present from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Swick, father and mother of the groom, Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Swick, Mr. and Mrs. Sam O. Swick, Mr. and Mrs. George Swick, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Stuber, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Frazier, brothers and sisters of the groom, all from Beaver Falls, Pa. Rev. T. W. Colhouer and wife of Eldersville, Pa. Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Colhouer of East End, Pittsburg, Harry Watkins and wife of Knoxville, Pa. and aunts of the bride.

MIDNIGHT FIRE DOES CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE

MAN RETURNS WITHOUT SHOES

Tony Santoni, the driver who was injured Thursday week ago when he was struck by the street car, while driving a team of R. C. Mounteer's near Beechwood, returned home from the Pittsburg hospital Friday evening.

When Santoni alighted from the train he had neither shoes or socks on his feet. One of his countrymen carried him to the waiting room and he was taken home. It is not known why he returned without foot covering. It is said that he refused to remain in the hospital any longer. He is about recovered from his injuries. It was thought at the time of the accident that his back was injured.

HOSPITAL PATIENT ESCAPES

Man Jumps From Bed And Runs Through Snow in Bare Feet

POLICE TAKE CHARGE

A man who has been receiving treatment at the Charleoi-Monessen hospital Friday afternoon about 6 o'clock seemed to get the impression that some one was going to harm him. He jumped from his bed and throwing the nurse right and left, dashed out of the door. He ran down the hill, jumped from the top of the wall to the street and ran to a house in North Charleoi.

The man had nothing on except his right clothing. His feet were absolutely bare. The police were called and the man was taken to the police station, where he is receiving treatment. He told the police that he wanted them to lock him up in a cell so that no one could get him. The unfortunate man's feet were cut and scratched by the trip through the snow and ice.

HOLLY AND MISTLETOE RECEIVED BY MAIL

The force of the Mail Publishing company is indebted to Thomas Galbraith of Southern Pines, N. C., for a Christmas remembrance in the form of a large box of holly and mistletoe.

Notice.

The Borough Council of Charleoi will receive prices on lots sufficient to erect a municipal building, said plot of ground to be approximately 44 by 100 feet or more. All propositions must be in the hands of council on or before Tuesday evening January 5, 1915. Said propositions or option to remain in force until Feb. 2, 1915. Council reserves the right to reject any or all said propositions.

McDermott Stable Badly Burned by Flames

ORIGIN IS NOT KNOWN

Fire of unknown origin damaged the stable and barn of Thomas McDermott, at 415 Crest avenue, Friday night at about 11:50 o'clock to the extent of between $800 and $1000. The fire which was in the baled feed on the second floor of the barn was all a blaze when the fire was discovered. Neighbors saw the fire and notified Mr. McDermott. The alarm was telephoned to the fire station.

The new fire truck was used for the first time since it was procured. A record run was made up the slipper hill to the scene of the fire. It is believed that the entire structure would have been destroyed had it not been for the fire truck. There were three horses in the stable. They with the wagon which was in the wagon were removed without being injured. About a ton and a half of hay and ton of straw, which were on the second floor were burned. Oats, corn and other feed on the ground floor were damaged by water. The roof of the building was destroyed.

It is a mystery as to the origin of the fire. It seemed to start in the corner of the second floor among the baled feed. There was no fire about the building. It was necessary for a fire truck to make the second trip to the scene of the fire as it started second time.

WILL FILL JURY WHEEL MONDAY

On next Monday the filing of the jury wheel for 1915 will be commenced. This year Judge R. W. Irwin will supervise the work. This will be his first experience. The jury commissioners are J. Warren Vankirk, South Franklin township and James A. McLoney of Buffalo township.

M. Caton is clerk. In filling the wheel there are usually two transcribing clerks. More than 1,000 names will be placed. Any names remaining in the wheel from this year will be taken out and destroyed. There is always a number of names remaining in the wheel. Each district of the county is entitled to ascertain number of jurors. The judge and jury commissioners each put in one-third of the names. The grand and petit jurors for the February term will have to be drawn within 30 days of the time they are to meet, so that just as soon as the wheel is filed next week, these jurors will be drawn.

A Good Opportunity.

Here is an opportunity for some person to have the use of a sum of money from now until the first of June. All that is required is to take the pony and take good care of it until the above date. Send address to the Mail office.

STREAM POLLUTION.

With the convening of stage legislatures the perennial subject of stream pollution comes up and efforts are to be made to ban the practice of draining coal mines and sending the acids from manufacturing plants into the streams, says the Uniontown Herald. This sulphur and these acids are popularly supposed to be extremely deleterious to health.
But aside from the damage which they inflict upon boilers and pipes through which the polluted waters flow, they are really beneficial.

Some time ago an investigation was made by the authorities of West Virginia into this matter. Streams in the state have been terribly polluted by the sewage sent by practically every city and town into the nearest stream. Mixed with this mass of impurity came the drainage from mines and from manufacturing establishments. It was to determine just what effect this had upon health that the investigation was made.

It was found that the sulphur and the acids formed precipitates with the sewage and sent large amounts of silt to the bottoms of the streams.
These precipitates were found to have carried with them millions of germs and bacteria of every description. Imprisoned in the ooze and silt on the bottoms of the streams these were prevented from floating bouy-antly in the water and being drawn into the intakes through which towns get their supplies of drinking water.
It was conclusively demonstrated that instead of being a menace to health
the drainage from the mines and manufactories was working to reduce the number of bacteria which otherwise would have been found in the water supply of many a town.

Through this discovery the mine and factory owners were relieved from the imposition of onerous and restrictive laws compelling them to provide settling pools for the drainage from their establishments. This expense was spared them which was a good thing since many of them would have been compelled to abandon their plants if the cost of operation had been so greatly increased.

This is the explanation made by those who investigated the matter.
However their explanation sounds more satisfactory than the resultant mess in the streams looks to the layman. As a matter of fact the river water does not look fit even to bathe in.

THIRD STREET.

It is to be hoped that Charleroi will not run into too many obstacles in its improvement of Third street. Making virtually a double street and gaining thereby the benefit of unsurpassed grades from the down town section to the hill district is something especially desirable.

Where there may be objections in the proposal to do away with the sidewalk on one side of the street.
Just what may be the contention of property holders on this matter remains to be learned. If they object too strenuously there will of course be no improvement of Third on the plan suggested. However, there need be no anticipation of a disagreement, but rather, consideration of a wise plan that merits and will receive antimous approval.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

They had not met many years.
Girlhood chums, their paths of life
had separated and when they accidentally encountered one another, naturally they had many things to discuss:
mutual friends, etc.

"By the way, Mamie," inquired
Mary, "what ever became of Bill
Smith—that ugly, bow-legged man, who was such a simpleton that he could not come in out of the rain?"

A frigid look overspread Mamie's face. With the hauteur that her sex can display on needed occasions, she freely spoke:

"Madam, he is my husband."
Poor Mary. What could she say?
Her face was scarlet and she worked her brain overtime to say something to appease her friend. This is what she managed to stammer:
"W—W—Well, Mamie, he certainly did wear the most beautiful neckties I ever saw."—Louisville Time.

Some time in the happy long ago, taurant for lunch. On the table at which they sat was some tobacco tasted the over-heated condiment. Pat was the first to try it and instantly great tears welled in his eyes.

"Shure, Pat," said Mike, wondering ly, as he glanced at his pal, "what is it that yez are crying for?"

"Ye'd niver guess, Mike," returned Pat. "O' was thinkin' av me poor auld father who died ten years ago."

A minute went by and then Mike made a dive for the tobacco. What he took was plenty and the resultant tears were numerous.

"Why, Mike," said Pat, with wellfeigned surprise, "it's yerself that's crying now! Phat the mater wid yez?"

"Phat am O' crying about?" was the savage rejoinder of the tearful Mike.

WAR NOTES

London, Dec. 26.—German aviators made another attempt to drop bombs on British ports Friday. An attempt made against Sheerness was unsuccessful. An aeroplane crossed the channel and sailing high made the attempt. British aircraft went in pursuit and a battle was fought in the air for a quarter of an hour, which was witnessed by thousands of persons.
The German escaped after his machine had been hit several times.
Christmas brought no rest to the European armies.

Valparaiso, Dec. 26.—A wireless message from the Chilean torpedo gunboat Tome reports the British cruiser
New Castle cannonading 15 miles from Valparaiso. It is supposed she has engaged the German cruiser Dresden and converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich. A British squadron and Japanese warships are known to be cruising not far from this port.

Washington, D. C. 26.—Germany has notified some of the neutral countries having consuls in Belgian territory now under German military authority that the exequators crediting the consuls to Belgium will not be recognized further, though provisional recognition will be granted to those whose countries so desire. No such communication has been received by the United States as yet.

Berlin, Dec. 26.—It is reported that Russia has traded Sakhalin Island to Japan for heavy guns. This island lies off the east coast of Asia.

London, Dec. 26.—Christmas of 1914 will long be remembered in Great Britain as a military Christmas.
Everywhere throughout the island men in khaki and in blue were the object of attention and admiration. All ranks of the troops at the front and at home were loaded down with presents. Even the German military prisoners and Germans in the central concentration camps had Christmas trees and gifts from home and from wealthy Germans in England.

BLUFF ON FIELD OF HONOR

One of the Many Good Stories Henry Labouchere Could Tell of the Days of His Youth.

A duel is always absurd, even when it is tragic; but it is rare indeed for one of the combatants to be troubled by its absurdity. Such, however, was the case with the famous English radical, Henry Labouchere, who once fought a duel during his early diplomatic career, while he was attached to the embassy in Stockholm.

"There was a want of logic about the entire proceeding that went to my heart," he confessed later. "To be killed is bad enough, but to be killed paradoxically is worse. I never felt more dismal in my life."

Paradoxical the combat certainly was, since Labouchere had been the challenger, his ground of offense being that his antagonist, an Austrian officer, had presumed to criticize the British minister for having given social countenance to a fellow Briton who, disapproving of duels, had recently declined a challenge from conscientious scruples. The young diplomat, asserting with spirit that his chief had behaved properly, and that Englishmen were not so silly as to fight duels, had left the rest to his seconds—and found himself pledged to fight the next morning, with pistols, at seven o'clock. He had hoped for an apology, and admits he was dismayed; but he did not allow his feelings to be divided, and duly made his appearance upon the field of honor.

"The Austrian stood apart; I stood apart. The surgeon already eyed me as a 'subject.' The seconds consulted; then the Frenchman stepped out 12 paces. He had very short legs, and they seemed to me shorter than ever. After this came the loading of the pistols. Sometimes, I thought, seconds do not put in the bullets; that comforted me, but only for a moment, for the bullets were rammed down with cheerful energy. By this time we had been placed facing each other. A pistol was given to each of us. 'I am to give the signal,' said the Prussian. 'I shall count one, two, three, and then at the word fire, you will both fire. Gentlemen, are you ready?'

We both nodded. 'One, two, three, fire!' and both our pistols went off. 'No harm had been done,' Labouchere thought it was all over, when his opponent, stepping up, remarked that he supposed he ought to allow him a second shot, but should nothing come of it, he would not consent to a third. Reluctantly on the part of both participants, a second shot was fired; and they both missed. 'If indeed either had aimed—again. Then Labouchere boldly demanded a third shot.'

"The seconds consulted together; for a moment I feared they were going to grant my request, and I was greatly relieved when they informed me they considered that two shots were amply sufficient. I was delighted, but I pretended to be most unhappy, and kept up the farce of being an aggrieved person."

The whole affair was certainly farcical; but the fun depended upon the leading actors being both very bad marksmen.—Youth's Companion

A Day Will Come.
A day will come when the only bat the field will be the market open to commerce and the mind open to new ideas. A day will come when bullets and bombshells will be replaced by votes, by the universal suffrage of nations, by the venerable arbitration of a great sovereign senate, which will be to Europe what the parliament is to England, what the Diet is to Germany, what the Legislative assembly is to France. A day will come when a cannon will be exhibited in public museums, just as an instrument of torture is now, and people will be astonished how such a thing could have been. A day will come when these two immense groups, the United States of America and the united states of Europe, shall be seen placed in presence of each other, extending the hand of fellowship across the ocean.—Victor Hugo.

Authors Long-Lived.
Mr. Thomas Hardy recently entered his seventy-fifth year, reminding us of the amazing longevity of authors. Among those who have died since 1909, Sir Theodore Martin and Samuel Smiles were over ninety; over eighty were Sir Edwin Arnold, Edward Everett Hale, Professor Masson, Justin McCarthy, George Meredith, Herbert Spencer, Goldwin Smith, Mark Twain, and Leo Tolstoy; while among those who passed their threescore years and ten may be mentioned Alfred Austin, Mark Train, Sir Lewis Morris, Josephine Butler and Ouida. Happily, we have still with us, though in their eighties, Mr. Barings-Gould, Stoddard Brooke and Frederic Harrison; Lord Morley is in his seventy-sixth, William de Morgan in his seventy-fifth, while Henry James is seventy-one and the poet Laureate sixty-nine.

His Excuse.
"Can I get off today, boss?"
"What for?"
"A wedding."

"Do you have to go?"
"I'd like to, sir—I'm the bridegroom."—Cornell Widow.

In Its Nature.
"This picture of a hanging is a gruesome thing, but the artist certainly has done it splendidly, has he not?"
"Yes, but then a hanging matter ought to be the subject of capital execution."

ONLY THE HEAD USED

PECULIAR GAME OF "FOOTBALL" IN SOUTH AMERICA.

Among the Odd Things Observed by Theodore Roosevelt in His Travels This Sport Is Noted as Worth Recording.

Well, these Parecis Indians enthusiastically play football with their heads. The game is not only native to them, but I have never heard of read of its being played by any other tribe or people. They use a light hollow rubber ball, of their own manufacture. It is circular and about eight inches in diameter. The players are divided into two sides, and stationed much as in association football, and the ball is placed on the ground to put in play, as in football. Then a player runs forward, throws himself flat on the ground and butts the ball toward the opposite side. This first butt, when the ball is on the ground, never lifts it much and it rolls and bounds toward the opponents. One or two of the latter run toward it; one throws himself flat on his face and butts the ball back. Usually this butt lifts it, and it flies back in a curve well up in the air, and an opposite player, rushing toward it, catches it on his head with such a swing of his brawny neck, and such precision and address, that the ball bounds back through the air as a football snarls after a drop kick. If the ball flies off to one side or the other it is brought back, and again put into play. Often it will be sent to and fro a dozen times, from head to head, until finally it rises with such a sweep that it passes far over the heads of the opposite players and descends behind them. Then shrill, rolling cries of good-humored triumph arise from the victors, and the game instantly begins again with fresh zest.

There are, of course, no such rules as in a specialized ball game of civilization, and I saw no disputes. There may be eight or ten, or many more players on each side. The ball is never touched with the hands or feet, or with anything except the top of the head. It is hard to decide whether to wonder most at the dexterity and strength with which it is hit or butted with the head, as it comes down through the air, or at the reckless speed and skill with which the players throw themselves headlong on the ground to return the ball if it comes low down. Why they do not grind off their noses I cannot imagine. Some of the players hardly ever failed to catch and return the ball if it came in their neighborhood, and with such a vigorous toss of the head that it often flew in a great curve for a really astonishing distance.—Theodore Roosevelt, in Scribner's Magazine.

Seine Broke: Fish Got Away.
After having been for eight weeks on the Cape Shore fishing grounds off Nova Scotia seeking mackerel the fishing schooner Veda McKown reached the fish pier with only 5,000 large, fresh and 127 barrels of salted mackerel in her hold. Crew members complained of the hard luck encountered during the trip, and after the schooner had tied up circulated that the breaking of a seine cost them about $2,000. The schooner encountered a large school of mackerel off Canso. The seine boat was quickly launched and within a short time had circled the school with the seine. However, the seine broke as it was pulled, and all except the 5,000 mackerel which the schooner brought escaped.

The fishermen estimated that there were fully twenty thousand fish in the school, and each of the 15,000 that got away would have been worth 15 cents at the fish pier, that being the price quoted for large, fresh mackerel.

Monocle as a Courage Inspirer.
Jack Denon Armstrong, an aristocratic young Englishman, has just returned home from Albania with a story of the awe in which his monocle was held by the unsophisticated soldiers of the Morea, while he was in command of a field gun used against the rebels.

Armstrong, who is a brother of the private secretary of Prince William, set out from Alessio with Chief Prek for the relief of the prince, then besieged in his capital. Prek had 2,000 men and one field gun. Armstrong commanded the gun.

No matter how hot the fire, the soldiers never deserted the gun, which was aimed and fired by the monocled Englishman. As they had never seen a monocle before they thought it essential to aiming or a kind of range finder. Armstrong did not dispel their illusion.

News on the Ocean.
The first transatlantic liner to publish a newspaper made up of wireless items was the American liner St. Paul. It was 11 years ago while Mr. Marconi was crossing the Atlantic on that vessel that he personally directed the issuing of the first number of the Transatlantic Times, the first wireless newspaper published at sea. Such publications now include the Daily Bulletin of the Cunard Line, the Atlantic Telegraph of the Hamburg-American and the Ocean Times of the White Star Line. On the Pacific the steamers running to Alaska the Wireless Herald is published. The stations at Pough and Cape Cod furnish most of the wireless news received on board the transatlantic liners in regard to what is going on on shore.

TO KEEP HIS MEMORY GREEN

Boston Man Who Had Long Made Hotel His Home Remembered Old Friends in Will.

There is one face and one kindly smile missing in the lobby and dining room of Young's hotel that will be missed for a long time by those to whom the man who owned them had become a part of the big hospitality, says the Boston Journal.

The man was Henry K. Barnes, a man whom some called a "totally old bachelor," without kith or kin. But these didn't know, as the employees of Young's hotel can testify to. For 40 years—as many as he had been a guest of the hotel—the old man had many kith, and they ranged from the pretty young telephone girls in the lobby down to the aging head waiter, George Betts, who had been in the hotel as long as Mr. Barnes, a member of the firm of R. K. Barnes & Co., manufacturer of leather supplies, had been there himself.

As an evidence of the esteem in which he held these friends, the old man, "without kith or kin," has left many bequests to his friends in the hotel, and they are telling over there of the many things he did while making the hotel his home to make life a bit more cheerful for those with whom he came in daily contact. There are instances told of how he sent young stenographers home in taxicabs when the rain or snow was bad—there are others who are keeping post cards sent them by Mr. Barnes from far southern places when he was away on business trips—and for Christmas gifts and ordinary gifts they are saying at Young's that it will be a long time before any one can take his place.

FIXED HIM FOR THE EVENING

Wherever He Went, Wife Was Pretty Sure Hubby Would Not Do Any Roof Gardening.

Dr. A. F. Christian, a Boston physician, announces that ice cream is the best remedy for alcoholism. At a recent luncheon, Doctor Christian, apropos of this fact, told a story.

"Roof gardens," he said, "add roof gardening, during the wife's absence at the seashore, are responsible for a good deal of midsummer alcoholism. But, if the wife is home, she can restrain the roof-gardening tendencies on her husband's part."

"Thus, a would-be roof gardener said to his wife the other evening after dinner: 'I'll have to return to the office right away, my dear. And I'm afraid I'll be kept rather late. I've got to post my books for the entire month.' 'Will you be going anywhere else besides the office?' she said, calmly. 'Er—no,' he replied.

"Then," said she, "I'll just ask you to stop in at the corner grocery before it closes and get me a couple of nice salt mackerel. You can bring them home with you afterward." "Er—all right," he muttered. "Then, as he set out, gloomily, his wife said to herself with a smile: 'Well, I guess he won't do much roof-gardening tonight with two great big wet mackerel in his pocket.'"

Latest Engine of Warfare.
A terrible weapon of warfare has been invented. In the British Naval Annual for 1914, just published, there is a description of a contrivance that might almost be described as devilish. It is of the Leon torpedo mine, which has now been acquired and is being manufactured by a British firm. This engine is so constructed that it can be set to hover between any depths below the surface that may be desired. When placed in the water it has a slight negative buoyancy, and sinks until automatically a propeller is brought into action which drives it upwards again. It can be used in the open sea by any type of ship, or in the case of tidal harbors, it could be released by a vessel outside so as to make its way with the tide into the anchorage, and perhaps destroy shipping there. A touch on the dead-end steel "biskers" which project from its upper surface, and the enemy would be sent to the bottom.

Practical Danish Schools.
In the schools of Denmark, "reading and spelling are not mechanized and treated as arts complete in themselves, but taught in an incidental way. Separate spelling is unknown." These schools have been carefully studied by men sent by Commissioner Clayton to find out how they have changed a poor, war-riddled country into a rich, happy one. Character development is one of the chief aims of the folk high school, and men and women of all ages go to school to learn how to do their daily work better. The men attend mainly in winter and the women in summer.—The World's Chronicle.

No Piker.
"Of course you know what our curriculum is?" said the head of a young woman's finishing school to Mr. Newtacks, who had called to enter his daughter.

"No, I don't," answered Mr. Newtacks, but put that in the bill, too, and I'll pay for it."

Found Radium in Jamaica.
An English expert asserts that, after prolonged prospecting, he has discovered an extensive radium deposit on a Jamaican mountain. A sample sent to the United States for analysis has been pronounced to be satisfactory.

ANSWER THE CALL

Charleroi People Have Found That This Is Necessary.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench. A little cause may hurt the kidneys. Spells of backache often follow. Or some irregularity of the urine. A splendid remedy for such attacks. A medicine that has satisfied thousands.

Is Doan's Kidney Pills a special kidney remedy?

Many Charleroi people rely on it. Here is Charles of proof.

Mrs. B. Mahoney, 821 McKean Avenue, Charleroi, Pa., says: "For a long time one of the family complained of pains across the back and any bending caused sharp twinges to dart through his body. He was often in misery. He finally read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a supply at Piper's Pharmacy. They soon relieved the pain in his back and he continued until he was benefited in every way. I have also taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have helped me very much. My former enlargement of Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good."

Price 50c, at all druggists. Doan's simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Mahoney and Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SEASON

TO OPEN

The official opening of the basketball season in Monongahela will take place at the second week in January when the Monongahela high school will begin its winter floor campaign against the best high school fives in this end of the state. Coach Crane has not announced the schedule for the coming season.

The opening game of the season will be played at Company A Armory with the Brushton high school team of Pittsburgh. Other teams that will appear at Monongahela during the winter will be Charleroi high, Monessen high, Homestead high, Washington high, Canonsburg high and probably Crafton high or Jeannette.

MAN ARRESTED IN UNIONTOWN NOT BUONO

Burgess S. L. Woodward and Chief of Police C. W. Albright went to Uniontown this morning to see if an Italian arrested there was August Buono, wanted here for the murder of Calarego Sandipoli, which occurred in a barber shop on McKean avenue November 24. Although the man arrested somewhat answered the description of the man wanted here, he was not the right man.

ALL PICTURES MUST BEAR CENSORS' STAMP

The state board of moving picture censors announced that from now on every film exhibited in Pennsylvania, irrespective of the time it has been on the market, must bear the official stamp of the board.

Forty exhibitors have been fined $50 each for showing films that have not been approved by the board. Since June 1 when the board first began operations, 6,116 reels have been submitted for examination, each reel containing 1,000 feet of film. Thus 6,116,000 feet or 116 miles of film have been examined by the state authorities.

The amount of fines and fees collected has made the state board self-sustaining.

Entertains at Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles VanVoorhis entertained at a family dinner in their home near Hazelkirk. A great many out of town relatives were present. A rare old fashioned dinner was served.

Granted License.

The engagement of Miss Carma Alice Brown of VanVoorhis and George Washington Kligore of Coburn, W. Va., is announced. The marriage will take place at an early date. When married the couple will reside in West Virginia.

Christmas.

In Ellsworth and Bentleyville Christmas was quieter than usual, there being scarcely anything in social functions on hand. A dance in the Ellsworth ballroom was the main feature of the two towns.

Personal Mention.

The home of Isaac Gould is quarantined because of scarlet fever. Mrs. J. L. Brown of Main street is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Hosak of Cleveland, Ohio.
